Media Graphics	Uses images and color to engage viewer in character and events. Images and color convey emotions that give viewer a sense of the story.	Includes images that match the character, setting, or events in the story.	Uses too few or too many graphics. Images do not support the mood or content of story.	Uses only one image or images do not show information about character, setting, or events.
Design	Title and author are clearly shown. Layout and use of colors, headings, and images make it easy to find and understand information.	Uses different text sizes and fonts to clearly show title and author. Images and text tell about content, but not plot.	Poor layout. Too many colors, images, and textual information makes it hard to get a sense of story.	Does not use text sizes, color, layout, or images to help viewer find title, author, or information about content of story.
Content Summary	Summary includes information that describes character, setting, and plot. Interesting summary makes you want to read the entire book.	Summary includes information about character, setting, and plot. Write tells what happens.	Summary includes basic facts, but not interesting details. Missing information about key event(s) in plot.	Does not use color, font, style or size to help viewer find information.
